

Many are the times I have heard some liberal claim there is no difference between church action and individual action. Those of us who read with understanding realize there is, in fact, a difference (cf. 1 Tim 5:16, et al). The excerpt from a liberal “church’s” bulletin shows that liberals really do realize a difference between individual action and church action. When it comes to bulletin boards they can see the truth. Why can they not see the distinction when it comes to the care of orphans, benevolence to non-Christians (and Christians), and social activities? Hmm. Could it be that there are many “church of Christ” traditionally minded, ignorant, preacher-worshipping people in the pews who blindly follow elders and preachers who think they own the church? DING, DING, DING!

We now have numerous bulletin boards in the halls throughout the building. Each bulletin board is for a specific purpose. Therefore, we ask that you check with the office before placing anything on the bulletin boards. The boards are for church use so let's effectively use them to inform and encourage.

Thanks for your cooperation.
